

Novel types of nuclear structure

H. Horiuchi

Kyoto University

I discuss several new type of exotic nuclear structure which are recently investigated. They include Bose-Einstein condensed states of alpha particles and di-neutron clusters in neutron-rich nuclei, for which I give discussions a little in detail. Other topics include structure with different deformations of neutron and proton distributions, and alpha-cluster structure sustained by excess neutrons.